WHAT IS THIS SUBJECT ABOUT?

Starting in September 2027, this two-year course is for students interested in how people learn and develop from birth to adulthood. You will explore effective teaching, inclusive learning, assessment, communication and safeguarding. Through realistic education scenarios, you will learn to plan safe and engaging activities, support different learners, evaluate progress and understand how education professionals help people achieve their potential.

WHAT WILL I LEARN?

THREE MANDATORY UNITS

- Unit 1: Inclusive Planning and Safe Practice (30%)
- Unit 2: Communication and Assessment for Progress (30%)
- Unit 3: Education in Practice: Core Principles (40%)

You will explore learning theories, inclusive planning, safeguarding, communication, assessment and feedback.

HOW WILL I BE ASSESSED?

- Unit 1: Pearson-set non-exam assessment; centre marked and Pearson moderated (30%)
- Unit 2: Pearson-set non-exam assessment; centre marked and Pearson moderated (30%)
- Unit 3: Pearson-set and marked written exam, 2 hours 15 minutes (40%)
- First exam series: May/June 2029

HOW WILL THIS SUBJECT SUPPORT MY FUTURE?

This qualification can be studied alongside other Level 3 courses and supports progression to related university courses, apprenticeships and further training. Possible pathways include teaching, teaching assistant and specialist teaching assistant routes, and further education teaching. Additional qualifications and training are needed for many professional roles; this course alone does not qualify you as a teacher.
